Property Description

Surrounded by the majestic mountains of Cerro Chirripo, this high elevation property boasts amazing views and is perfect for those who want a cool climate and to be in contact with nature. The location is Monterrey de Rivas, a quaint mountain pueblo situated at 1,300 meters (about 4,300 feet) elevation, with unbelievable views of the towering Talamanca Mountain range. The property has potable water from two sources, the Asada of Monterrey and a mountain spring located above the property. There is a main house and a separate casita. The main house is finished upstairs in studio or master suite style, with the downstairs area 85% complete. Once finished the main house will have 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths. The possibilities are endless to finish it in your own tastes! It only needs screens or windows, a downstairs kitchen (if you want), and some other small finishing details. The casita is two-bedrooms and one full bath, with an ample living area, kitchen and deck with views.
