Property Description

The Casa Romantica is an architect's dream come true. The property is truly a work of art. Hidden from the road, the home is set in Manuel Antonio's thriving rainforest, and ensconced in nature. Every feature of the home and property have been impeccably designed, and are of the highest quality. The appeal is modern tropical, features 20 foot walls of glass, and an open floor plan. A cascading water feature greets everyone who enters, and runs through the home to the pool on the other side. Within the home are a number of aesthetic architectural features, as well--including lighting alcoves, an inside atrium, vaulted teak ceilings, over 300 inset lights, a rainwater recycling system, and even an oversized jacuzzi tub in the master bedroom. The property is serviced by an electric gate and small guard house. In addition, there is a small guest house or caretaker's house on an independently titled property adjacent to the house which could be purchased along with the main house.
