Property Description

Refreshingly new, this beach style home will delight anyone looking for clean, modern open air living in the tropical Southern Pacific Coast of Costa Rica. If you have never been to the unspoiled Southern Pacific Coast of Costa Rica a real treat awaits! As one of the last coastal areas to be developed, this area reminds one of the Costa Rica of 30 years ago. Quiet towns, few tourists, friendly folks and a laid back lifestyle that so many are yearning for today are what you will find in this hidden paradise. Miles of deserted beaches, ancient volcanic rock outcroppings and sun bleached driftwood adorning the coconut lined shores. Time spent whiling away the hours reading in a hammock or strolling the beaches will put you into a state of relaxation that many long for but few actually achieve. This brand new contemporary home has been designed and built for high standard / low maintenance beach living.
